BE AWARE!

For every child less than 15 years old who dies from drowning in a pool, another 10 receive emergency department care for nonfatal submersion injuries. Nonfatal drowning can cause brain damage that may result in long-term disabilities including memory problems, learning disabilities, and permanent physical impairment.

In addition to warning parents that teaching a child how to swim does not mean the child is safe in water, The American Academy of Pediatrics urges those supervising children to stay within an arm's length of them while in the water because of the rapid speed at which drowning can occur. Check out Mackenzie's Mission—Drowning Prevention at www.macksmission.org
